and the temperature of the suit-cooling water as it enters and leaves the system. The latter will be an indirect measurement of the amount of heat produced by the body.

The lengthy countdown for the launching of the mammoth rocket started on schedule at 8 p.m. Thursday after two technicians climbed into a first stage fuel tank to find and stop a leak in the helium pressurization system.

They corrected the problem by tightening a nut at the base of a helium storage bottle. The helium is used to pressurize the fuel tank and operate certain valves.

Launch director Rocco Petrone said the most critical portion of the count will occur about midnight Monday when several key items take place in quick succession, including loading liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen aboard the command ship fuel cells, pumping supercritical helium into the lunar landing vehicle for pressurization and transferring the main power source from the ground to the rocket.

Five U.S. highways (numbered 6, 20, 30, 40 and 50) exceed 3,000 miles in length.

Freedom Bid Rejected at Forrest City

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Eddie Tate, a leader of a Negro boycott of Forrest City merchants, failed Thursday in his attempt to win immediate release from jail but two justices of the state Supreme Court ordered a hearing three days before he is to complete his sentence.

Tate was fined $50 and was given a 10-day jail sentence Monday by Forrest City Municipal Court Judge O. H. Har- graves on a charge of contempt of court. Tate was charged for allegedly making a face at Har- graves in a June 30 court appearance.

In an appearance Thursday before Justices Lyle Brown and J. Fred Jones, Tate's attorneys argued that Tate's actions were not contemptuous and that an examination of the record would substantiate their contention.

Brown and Jones denied immediate relief to Tate, a member of the Invaders, a black

Nixon Officials Encouraged by Soviet Policy

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mos- cow's latest foreign policy out- line has encouraged Nixon ad- ministration officials who hope for an era of improving East- West relations.

Specifically, the policy speech delivered Thursday by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to the Soviet parliament:

— Made no reference to Presi- dent Nixon's Romanian visit— thus supporting Washington speculation that whatever dis- pleasure the Soviets feel over Nixon's call at the maverick Communist state, they are not going to make a public issue of it.

— Dropped a broad hint of Kremlin interest in a U.S.-So- viet summit meeting sometime in the future.

Administration sources said Nixon has no plans for a Mos- cow stop during his globe-cir- cling trip starting late this month. Gromyko's words like- wise indicated Soviet considera- tion of a possible top-level meet- ing later, rather than now.

The Soviet foreign affairs spokesman referred to the pos- sibility by noting what Nixon himself has said: "The U.S. President's pronouncements in favor of a well-prepared Soviet-American summit meet- ing have not, of course, gone un- noticed in the Soviet Union," Gromyko said.

Except for the Glassboro, N.J., meeting between Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Johnson in 1967, there has been no U.S.-Soviet summit session since President John F. Kennedy's parley with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in Vienna seven years ago.

Khrushchev came to the United States in 1959 at President Dwight D. Eisenhower's invita- tion. It is assumed in both Washington and Moscow a re- turn invitation for that visit is still up to the Soviets.

In a general way, Gromyko's remarks about relations with the United States were de- scribed here as bearing positive elements.

He said the Soviets attach great importance to relations with America and "are for de- veloping good relations." Con- cerning Nixon's policy favoring an era of talks rather than con- frontation, he said "The Soviet Union stands for talks."

On the proposed strategic arms limitation talks Gromyko said the Soviets are ready to start "the exchange of opin- ions."

Gromyko said too that the So- viet Union "has begun the ratifi- cation" of the treaty to bar the spread of nuclear weapons.

militant group from Memphis, but set a hearing for Monday. Tate's attorneys submitted to the Supreme Court a transcript of the Municipal Court proceed- ings that was made by a court reporter, Pearl Pennington of Little Rock, whom they had hired. No official transcript was made of the proceedings.

The justices ordered Tate's at- torneys to provide legible copies of their transcript and told the attorney general's office to file type-written briefs for the hear- ing Monday.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Rodney Parham and Asst. Atty. Gen. Mike Wilson told the justices that Tate's case had not been brought before the Supreme Court in the proper manner.

Rockefeller Offers to Meet With Negroes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday that he would be "perfectly willing" to act as "moderator" in a Forrest City dispute that arose over a num- ber of grievances by Negroes.

Rockefeller told a news con- ference that he would go to For- rest City if he were invited and would meet with groups that represented Forrest City.

He said, however, that he questioned whether Sweet Willie Wine, alias Lance Watson, a member of a Memphis black militant group called the In- vaders that is helping in a boy- cott of Forrest City merchants, was representative of the peo- ple of Forrest City.

The governor said that he had met earlier Thursday with For- rest City Mayor Robert Cope, St. Francis County Sheriff Clar- ence Montgomery, State Police Director Ralph Scott, FBI agents and Maj. Gen. Charles Wilson of the Arkansas Nation- al Guard.

He said the meeting was called so that he could be brought up to date on the For- rest City situation and to find out "where we stand so we can meet whatever problems may come up."

Hot Springs Raid Nets 6 lbs. of Marijuana

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)— Police Chief Joe Crain said Thursday that three California residents had been arrested in Hot Springs and charged with possession of marijuana.

Crain said they were Earl Lowery, 20; Richard Hayden, 16; and his brother, Elvy Hay- den, 22, all of Grass Valley, Calif.

Crain said police seized six pounds of green marijuana that after it was processed would be worth about $10,000. Arraignment for the three was scheduled for Monday.

Masked Men Rob Camden Newsman

CAMDEN—Two masked men carrying guns robbed the home of Walter Hussman, 1890 Mary- gale Lane in Camden early Friday.

Hussman, editor and publish- er of Palmer Newspapers, said he and Mrs. Hussman were bound, gagged and blindfolded while the bandits ransacked their house looking for money and jewelry.

He said he went out of the house about 5:30 a.m. to get a newspaper in the driveway when two men with guns leveled approached him from the storage area of the carport.

Hussman said they ordered him back into the house and tied his and Mrs. Hussman's arms and legs while they searched the house.

Hussman said the bandits took a small amount of cash and an undetermined amount of jewelry, making their getaway in a 1969 Buick belonging to Mrs. Hussman.

"We were treated with con- sideration and their only moti- vation apparently was robbery, which they carried out in a professional manner," Hussman said.

He said the bandits stayed in the house about 30 minutes and just before they left they or- dered Hussman and Mrs. Hus- sman to lie face down in the master bedroom and tied their arms behind them and bound their ankles with neckties. They also put tape over their mouths and eyes.

Hussman said it took about an hour for him and his wife to free themselves, at which porters, "It's not in my hands. He's running it."

At the White House, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler again predicting the administra- tion will win the fight, did not discuss the possibility of a com- promise.

Negotiations behind the scenes are expected during the next few days, with any show- down votes at least two weeks off.

At the moment, the possible compromises before the Senate as amendments would:

— Limit the Safeguard pro- gram to research, barring any deployment or site acquisition. Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., introduced the proposal.

— Provide for installing com- puter and radar elements at in- tial Safeguard sites in North Da- kota and Montana for research and testing, but bar deployment of the missiles themselves. Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., introduced this amendment.

Proponents of each compro- mise find the other proposal un- acceptable.

But Aiken and Senate Demo- cratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana indicated during de- bate Thursday there is an area of compromise between the two amendments since both pro- posed continued antiballistic missile—ABM—research.

"I would think as a suggestion perhaps it would be possible to achieve the same results if we had testing going on at such missile sites as Kwajalein and Eniwetok," Mansfield told the Senate.

Asked later if use of the two Pacific test areas might be the modification he has been look- ing for, Aiken said "It's certainly possible."

In announcing his insistence there be a compromise, Aiken became the 50th senator to de- clare himself opposed to the ad- ministration's ABM program as it stands. There are 48 who have said they will support it and two who remain undecided.

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, Aiken's Vermont Republican col- league, told a reporter he ex- pects to decide his position by next week. The other uncom- mitted senator, John J. Williams, R-Delaware, has said he will not state his position publicly.

Len Blaylock Refuses to Pay Tennessee Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Welfare Director Len Blaylock said Thursday the department does not plan to use any of the money from the extra 12 days of dog racing at West Memphis to pay obstetrical bills of Ar- kansas indigents in Memphis hospitals.

Blaylock said he had proposed that the money be used only for the same medical services nor- mally available for indigents through the Welfare Depart- ment. He said this precludes paying for having babies.

The plan still must be ap- proved by Gov. Winthrop Rock- effeller.

The 1969 Legislature author- ized the 12 special days of dog racing to pay for an estimated deficit of $300,000 annually for the care of Arkansas indigents. The legislation was enacted after Memphis Mayor Henry Loeb said the city would stop treating indigents if Arkansas didn't pay the bills.

Police found Mrs. Hussman's car parked in front of a church on the Country Club Road. It is suspected that the bandits left their car there and walked across the country club golf course to the Hussman home.

Soviet Ships Move Slowly Toward Cuba

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A Soviet task force, shadowed by a U.S. radar picket ship, moved slowly and boldly toward Cuba today in an un- precedented show of the Rus- sian flag.

In the early morning hours the eight Soviet ships were re- ported about 600 miles from Cuban shores, meandering from time-to-time but pressing ever closer to an expected July 20 ar- rival.

Keeping a watchful eye on the Soviet force is the U.S. radar picket ship Thomas J. Gary out of Key West, Fla., and U.S. pa- trol planes making daily flights out of bases in Maine and Mary- land. Navy press officers planned to fly a group of news- men over the task force today.

The Soviets have made it clear their intention is to send the Russian warships on their first visit to Premier Fidel Cas- tro's Cuba. The force is expect- ed to stay through the July 26 revolutionary celebration in Cuba or Soviet naval day which falls on July 27.

The maneuver is viewed by some U.S. military sources as possibly a response to the year- ly visits by U.S. destroyers to the Black Sea near Soviet terri- tory. And it provides an oppor- tunity for the Soviet navy to practice keeping submarines in operation for extended periods away from shore-based support.

The task force is comprised of a 5,600-ton guided missile cruiser of the "Kynda" class; a 3,500-ton destroyer that can carry anti-ship missiles; a 4,450-ton destroyer that can be armed with anti-air missiles; two con- ventional submarines; a sub tender, and two others.

The expression "hors d'oeuvres" means "outside the work" and originally was used by architects to indicate outbuildings. France's chefs borrowed it to describe appetizers customarily served apart from a dinner.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When a television series settles down for a long run and "role fatigue" sets in, many actors cast about for some new creative spark.

Michael Landon of "Bonanza," beginning its 11th year on NBC this fall, found his in writing and directing.

"I wrote the first show I did because we were at a point where we were going to close down because we didn't have a script," Landon recalled during a lunch break on the Paramount lot.

"It was a challenge. So I went home for the weekend and wrote it over Saturday and Sunday."

Landon, 33, who literally grew up in the part of Little Joe, said, "I guess that was six years ago. Then I went a long period of not writing anything. In the last three years I think I've written nine of the shows."

Altogether, Landon has written 12 scripts for "Bonanza" and directed two, but few people were aware of his off-camera activities until "The Wish" last February.

This story of a young Negro boy and his family won critical plaudits and brought requests for screenplays from movie companies. None of the requests appealed to him, but Landon said he hopes to get a movie ready for the show's three-month layoff period in the late fall.

When Landon writes he secludes himself in the living room of his home in Encino, sits on the floor, puts a pad on the coffee table and writes in long-hand. "I sometimes go 18 hours at a time," he said, "get a little sleep and finish the script the next day."

He said he can write so fast because "I think about the people a long time before I sit down. I don't think much about the plot. I sometimes don't even know how it's going to end."

"I tried plotting it out once but it seemed to be forcing the characters to do things," he said. "It seemed dishonest. The ideas of the people is the most exciting. You get to know somebody and hopefully it will have some effect and impact. Which isn't easy within the confines of a show like ours."

One limit is that the Cartwrights must react in character to every situation.

Another is that the three Cartwrights represent a united viewpoint. No room for conflict there. So the stories really aren't about the Cartwrights, but about their involvement with other people. Ben, Hoss and Little Joe are intruders into other people's lives—and stick around only long enough to solve their problems.

Landon said he's had "a ball" doing "Bonanza," but when its long run ends he wants to get into the movies. "I want to do something contemporary," he said. "I want to see if I can walk without this gun. You see I kind of lean funny."

New British Fighters Go Straight Up

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine planners want nearly $250 million worth of special fighter planes designed to take off straight up from small clearings close behind battle lines and provide immediate support for infantry.

Congress has been asked to vote $57 million for 12 British-built Harrier planes to be used for service testing and developing tactical doctrine.

Marine sources, already convinced the Harrier would be more effective than any other fighter for the future, said the Corps hopes over the next few years to buy a total of about 65 Harriers and organize them into three squadrons.

The Harrier, already being incorporated into the Royal Air Force, is the first vertical-short takeoff and landing plane—VSTOL—to show real combat promise, Marine experts said.

The United States and Britain have carried on research and development in the field for years but with limited success. The Russians are reported near production of a VSTOL plane code named "Freehand."

Congress may approve the first 12, but there is some question whether the lawmakers would go for the whole Marine plan if the present harsh mood toward defense spending should continue on Capitol Hill.

2 Girls Shatter Myth Of 'It's a Man's World'

Lynnda McGinty

Shirley Douglas

By JOYCE GABRIEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The American woman's dream has changed radically in the last 60 years. Back in 1909, when grandpa was wooing grand ma, feminine fulfillment was summed up by "husband, home and family."

Sweet young things faded into sweet old things, and a successful woman was one who had a foolproof recipe for brownies and the knack for being a satellite revolving around the lives of her husband and children.

But, as the saying goes, "We've come a long way, baby," and the ivy-covered cottage has given way to the glass-enclosed skyscraper.

The presidential suite at the New York Hilton looks out over mid-town Manhattan. One wall is made entirely of glass. Two girls perch on a window seat, looking out over the city.

"My friends always do a double-take when they hear what I do," said petite, blonde Lynnda McGinty.

What she does is not unusual—if you're a man. But for a woman, her post as sales engineer for the Semiconductor Division of Westinghouse constitutes a major breakthrough.

Lynnda is the first woman sales engineer appointed by the company. But the groundwork was done by Shirley Douglas, a leggy blonde from Chester, N.J., who took a "temporary" secretarial job at that company and stayed.

"I was a political science major at Georgetown University," explains Shirley, "and while I was waiting for a job with the foreign service, I worked in the sales department." The job in sales proved more interesting than politics and Shirley set her sights on becoming an assistant sales engineer.

"When I first asked for the job, they just said, 'Absolutely not,'" she said. "One of the reasons was because I didn't have a technical degree. But mainly it was because I was the first woman who asked to be made a sales engineer."

But after more inside sales training, Shirley got the appointment.

"That led to MY recruitment," said Lynnda, who has a math and engineering degree from Purdue University. It also led to her promotion—she has been made a full sales engineer.

"I'm always the only girl everywhere," said Lynnda.

Shirley nods. "Other women have asked me if that makes me uncomfortable." She laughs. "I love it," she says emphatically.

Their male co-workers have nothing but praise for the girls. "They had to perform," said one salesman. "They had to prove themselves before they were accepted."

"We prove ourselves every day," said Lynnda. "We try extra hard not to be late or absent. And, of course, we try to be efficient."

The girls work with clients, describing equipment to them, taking orders, handling complaints.

"We save the company a lot of money," said Shirley. "When we take our clients out to lunch—our clients are all men—they insist on paying."

Shirley and Lynnda have their own version of the American dream.

"We'd both like to get married," said Lynnda, "but we'd want to keep on working."

"I couldn't bear to sit at home and watch soap operas all day," adds Shirley. "I love the personal contact I have in my job."

The girls turn to look at the city. It's exciting, alive. So are they.

SHE WANTS KIDS OUT OF HER HAIR

Dear Helen: I'm a parent in favor of not only the 18-year-old vote, but what goes with it. I mean making the legal age 18 instead of 21.

They insist they're "grown up" at 18. They won't take orders, they want the vote, they can go to war, get married (if female) without consent. Yet we can be taken into court to pay their bills until they are 21. Let 'em be self-sufficient, if that's what they want!

I say — get us parents off the hook three years earlier! — TIRED OF PAYING FOR TWO DELINQUENTS

Dear Helen: When the family tree produces lemons, it's usually because the parents went sour. Don't blame the kids entirely! — H.

Dear Helen: My daughter was a teenager mother. The father was even younger than she and we decided against marriage. Our pastor suggested we put the baby up for adoption.

It was the worst thing I ever did. Helen, giving that baby away has ruined our whole family. I can't sleep nights, can't work, have lost interest in life. My husband and I are the loneliest, saddest people in the world.

A year after the baby's birth my daughter had a breakdown, due to our wrong decision. Every time we look at a little boy, we hated ourselves more.

My life has become a nightmare. My daughter has since left home and is working. She has become hardened to this terrible loss and avoids talking about it. Says "It's over." How can she put it out of her life, when I mourn every day? — MOURNING

Dear Helen: Your daughter's attitude is healthy. I might not have been, had she continued living at home.

The boy is not doing much better in a normal two-parent home. His mother has adjusted; so knock off your indulgent sympathy and get on with living. Your husband needs you! — H.

Dear Helen: I don't want to appear unappreciative of modern "conveniences" but I wish they would stop inventing things!

Take the automatic clothes washer. When I was a kid, we sent out the laundry. No problem. Before the washing machine was invented, people wore clothes a long time between changes, and then hired a washer woman. Now, we change every day, and look at the hamper!

Way back then, a gym suit was brought in clean and put in the high school locker in September; brought home to launder in June. Sneakers likewise. Now the kids fetch everything home at least once a week.

When "permanent press" came out, my husband bought a supply of shirts and said, "Now you don't have to make a trip to the cleaners."

Having finished my "permanent press" ironing, I now progress to the kids' gym clothes. Have you ever in your life got white sneakers clean?

I wonder what labor saving device they'll think up next! — TIRED

Tired Tired: Like Labor savers merely provide more time to do that which suddenly appears necessary because you have more time.

.....Or something. — H.

The Working World

Neil R. Cronin is Director of Temporaries, Business Schools, Victor Comptometer Corp.

Ready or not, most Americans are forced to retire at age 65. Fortunately, able retirees can still find profitable work if they want it. One of the best ways is temporary help.

The unemployment rate is at one of the lowest levels in history which means experienced, competent help is hard to find. Consequently, temporary help offices are being overwhelmed by requests for their services. Ours is not the only company to enlist the large wealth of talent among retirees.

Jobs For Retirees We find that many retired people prefer temporary work because it does not tie them down to a regular schedule and they can stop anytime to protect their social security benefits and then come back the following year.

The same company that forces its employees to retire at a certain age has no objection to using qualified temporary workers who exceed their employment age limits. After all, they do not have to support benefit programs for the retiree.

Another advantage to the company is instant use of an experienced expert who has the maturity to make sound judgments. Many retirees will find themselves in supervisory roles and often in positions that prove more interesting than their former jobs.

Most Skills In Demand One difficulty for retirees, of course, is in deciding where to look for employment. Few firms advertise for people over 65 in the want ads. Temporary help firms are easy to find in the yellow pages and the progressive ones welcome retirees.

Although the temporary help field uses almost every skill, the biggest demand is for office workers.

Here are some of the critical needs: clerical supervisors, typing, figurework, keypunching, management planning, filing, survey taking and surveying, solicitation, selling or order taking by telephone.

Marichal Called Best in N. League

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Juan Marichal's right thumb is pretty sore but there's nothing wrong with his arm. Just ask the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"He's the best pitcher in the National League," Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston said Thursday night after San Francisco's brilliant right-hander tamed the Dodgers 3-0 on three hits, one a bunt. "He's got all the pitches and he throws them all over the plate."

Well, almost all, according to Marichal, who said he jammed his thumb while grounding out with the bases loaded for the final out of the second inning.

"It's so sore it feels like it's broken," he moaned. "My control was bad (he walked three) and I couldn't throw my curve ball for strikes after I hurt the thumb, so I only threw the curve to show it to them. You have to throw everything against this team. I threw a lot of screwballs."

In other National League activity, Atlanta held off San Diego 3-1, Cincinnati nipped Houston 5-4 in 10 innings, the Chicago Cubs ended a five-game skid with a 6-2 victory over the New York Mets, St. Louis shelled Philadelphia 9-3 and Pittsburgh edged Montreal 2-1 in 11 innings.

Baltimore topped Boston 5-4, Cleveland took Detroit 7-5 in 10 innings, Minnesota outlasted Kansas City 6-5 and Oakland routed the Chicago White Sox 12-2 in American League games. California at Seattle was rained out and the New York Yankees and Washington were not scheduled.

Marichal's masterpiece was the Giants' third consecutive triumph and 10th in 13 games, enabling them to creep within 2½ games of the pacesetter Dodgers in the NL West although "remaining" in "fourth place. Atlanta is one-half game out and Cincinnati two back.

In running his record to 12-3 with his eighth straight complete game, Marichal, who missed several starts earlier in the season with a rib injury, yielded a leadoff single to Maury Wills, a one-out double to Tom Haller in the second and Wills' safe bunt to start the ninth after Marichal had retired 17 batters in a row.

Willie McCovey, who fouled a ball off his foot Monday and hadn't played since, boomed a two-run double in the third following singles by Bobby Bonds and Willie Mays, saddling Don Sutton, 11-9, with his fourth straight setback.

Sutton, serving a two-week military stint, has been commuting from Ft. Ord, Calif., and his control has been off because he hasn't been able to throw between starts.

But, observed Alston, "McCovey is liable to hit one off you even if you practice every day."

Hank Aaron started Atlanta toward snapping a three-game losing streak with a two-run double in the first inning following Felipe Alou's infield hit and a walk to Felix Millan. San Diego starter Dave Roberts, making his second major league appearance, failed to retire a batter.

The Padres collected 12 hits — four by Ollie Brown — off Jim Britton and Claude Raymond — Cecil Upshaw got the final out — but scored only in the eighth on Roberto Pena's homer, his second. It was the Padres' 30th defeat in the last 35 games.

Johnny Bench lashed a tie-breaking two-run single in the 10th that gave Cincinnati its triumph over Houston, although Jim Wynn of the Astros socked his 21st homer in the bottom of the inning. Bench singled after Tony Perez walked with two out and Lee May doubled.

Wayne Granger pitched out of a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the ninth after Houston tied the score 3-3 on Denis Menke's bad-hop grounder over short, which went for a double.

Bill Hands hurled a three-hitter and Ron Santo's two-run homer capped a five-run fifth inning as the Cubs stopped the Mets' seven-game winning streak and regained a four-game bulge in the NL East. Two Met errors aided the Cub cause and Hands didn't allow a hit after the fourth. Tommie Agee homered for the Mets in the

Big League Football Is Clouded Issue

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
O. J. Simpson's contract with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League remains as unsettled as Joe Namath's New York real estate. Gale Sayers, for one, hopes Simpson signs.

"I've heard he intends to set the league on fire," the All-Pro running back said in Chicago Wednesday. "I hope he signs. He'll find out that pro ball is much different than college ball."

Sayers' comments came at a news conference called by the Chicago Bears to end questions about Sayers' knee which he injured last November in a National Football League game against San Francisco.

"My knee feels as strong now as it did before it was hurt," he said. "I go to training camp next week and I don't want to be bothered by questions about my knee, so I'm saying this now."

While Buffalo opened training camp for rookies in Niagara Falls, N.Y., Simpson celebrated his 22nd birthday in Los Angeles where he's working on a television film ironically entitled, "The Last 10 Yards. Namath also was on the Coast, winding up a movie called Norwich. There was no indication the mop-haired quarterback will show up at the New York Jets Long Island training camp on Sunday.

Namath retired on June 6 rather than obey Commissioner Pete Rozelle's order to give up his interest in a Manhattan restaurant allegedly frequented by gamblers.

Namath's retirement seems to be catching, especially for the Jets. The world champions lost 30-year-old offensive guard Bob Talamini, the fourth established player to leave the team since their Super Bowl victory.

In Baltimore, Colts Coach Don Shula said he'll meet Sunday with quarterback Earl Morrall who indicated Wednesday he also might retire to enter a business venture. Shula said Morrall will be No. 1 when the Colts report for practice July 19 because "John Unitas still has to prove his arm is sound."

Unitas was sidelined most of last season with an injured arm while Morrall led the Colts to the National Football League championship.

In other retirements, 35-year-old Matt Hazeltine announced he was leaving the San Francisco 49ers after 14 years as a starting linebacker.

Harrelson Hits Homer for Indians

By HAL BUCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hawk Harrelson, his wings stiff from half a season on the ground, is starting to stir and his pace, for the last week at least, is almost as fast as Harmon Killebrew's, who's been flying all year long.

Both Harrelson and Killebrew hammered home runs Thursday helping Cleveland and Minnesota to victories and continuing hot slugging streaks.

Harrelson's shot, which helped the Indians whip Detroit 7-5 in 11 innings was his fourth in the last seven days. Killebrew, with five homers in seven days, drilled his 25th of the year in Minnesota's 6-5 victory over Kansas City.

In other American League games, Baltimore trimmed Boston 5-4 and Oakland bombed Chicago 12-2. California's game at Seattle was postponed by rain and New York and Washington were not scheduled.

In the National League, Cincinnati nipped Houston 5-4 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh took Montreal 2-1 in 11, Chicago tripped New York 6-2, St. Louis battered Philadelphia 9-3, San Francisco shut out Los Angeles 3-0 and Atlanta dumped San Diego 3-1.

Harrelson, who took time off before battling Detroit to put a verbal blast on his ex-manager, Gil Hodges, then teed off on the Tigers. He walked in the fifth, stole second, took third on a fielder's choice and scored on a sacrifice fly for the Indians' first run.

Then he rapped his 14th homer of the year with a man on in the seventh as Cleveland rallied for four runs to take the lead. Norm Cash's pinch homer tied it for the Tigers in the bottom half of the inning but Tony Horton's bases-loaded, two-out single drove in Cleveland's winning runs in the 11th.

Harrelson's homer raised his season's batting average to .205—about 80 points less than Killebrew's.

Killebrew, the Twins' slugger lifted his major league leading RBI total to 86 with a run-scoring single and his homer helping Minnesota to a 6-0 lead against Kansas City.

Then the Royals stormed back on homers by Lou Piniella, Chuck Harrison and Mike Fiore but they fell one run short.

"It started out like a laugh-er," said Minnesota Manager Billy Martin, "but it nearly ended up a cry. We really need a game where the guys can go out and relax, but it wasn't to be."

Oakland, 3½ games back of the Twins, kept pace by whacking Chicago. The A's exploded for eight runs in the fourth inning—their biggest single inning of the season and John "Blue Moon" Odom coasted to his 12th victory with a three-hitter.

Sal Bando poled a three-run homer in the big inning as the Athletics sent 11 men to the plate and collected seven hits. Rick Monday also homered for Oakland and Luis Aparicio and Buddy Bradford connected for Chicago.

Frank Robinson, who had smashed his 20th homer earlier, singled home Paul Blair with 40 49ers after 14 years as a starting linebacker.

Bob Charles Picked to Win British Open

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer
LYTHAM ST. ANNES, Eng-land (AP) — If the chewing gum holds out, Bob Charles figures he's in there with more than an even chance to win his second British Open Golf Championship right here where he picked up his first one in 1963.

The lanky left-hander from New Zealand, now living in Cleveland, Ohio, went into the third round of the prestige title play at seven-under-par 135, one shot ahead of Christy O'Connor of Ireland and a bit further ahead of other great players including a field of 11 Americans.

The gum-chewing habit is just another one the former bank clerk has picked up in the United States in addition to the habit of winning as much as $50,000 on the American circuit this year.

"I've found it helps," he said laconically.
"What is more important is at this time when my fever is around, I get some kind of a throat ailment and it bothers me. I think about it. Doctors and X-rays show nothing wrong except that I seem to have an allergy that hits my throat when it hits others eyes and nose. So I chew gum."

Does he have enough supply on hand for the ensuing 36 holes?
"Oh, yes indeed," Charles looked like he was spreading the field Thursday when he tacked a 69 onto his opening record 66 and was comfortably well away.

But then O'Connor, the 44-year-old Irishman who has been knocked on the door to greatness so often, suddenly caught fire. He smashed around the front nine in 32 and came back in 33 for a new record on Lytham's very tight 6,848-yard, par 71 links on the shore of the Irish Sea.

Behind O'Connor with 138 were England's Tony Jacklin—again a product of the American circuit—and Alex Cagill, 28-year-old Yorkshireman just coming into his prime and having a good year.

Bill Casper at 140 was the nearest American but he had a lot of ground to make up as did Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, U.S. Open champion Orville Moody and others in the challenge from across the Atlantic.

Moody at 141 still was confident about his game, for all his eye-streaming hay fever and he has been impressive with his accurate long game.

He was shooting for the big double—the American and British Opens in the same year. The last time that happened was 16 years ago, accomplished by wee Ben Hogan.

Moody's chances needed a special shot in the arm, though, and the third round would have to be it. Indeed it is the third round of 72-hole medal play that often produces the charge by the eventual winner.

The third round was for the 70 low scorers and ties from the original field of 130 and by nightfall this, too, will be cut to 45 lows and ties for Saturday's 18-hole final.

McCovey Heads NL All-Stars

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Willie McCovey, San Francisco home run slugger, topped the National League All-Star poll released today and newcomers Felix Millan of Atlanta and Cleon Jones of the New York Mets made the starting line-up as first time selectees.

McCovey, the Giants' first baseman, narrowly edged Hank Aaron, Atlanta's right fielder, 296-295 for the most votes cast in the annual balloting of players, coaches and managers.

The vote, announced by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, determined the eight starters (pitchers excluded) who will face the American League July 22 at Washington. The Nationals have won six in a row and hold a 21-17 edge in the series.

Managers Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals and Mayo Smith of the Detroit Tigers, the 1968 World Series rivals, will select the pitchers and other members of the 28-man squads to be announced in the next 10 days. Starters, except pitchers, must play at least the first three innings.

Millan's victory over Glenn Beckert, the highly regarded second baseman of the Chicago Cubs, was one of the most interesting developments. It was the closest contest on the ticket with Millan, making the squad for the second time, beating Beckert 137-110.

In the only other close competition, the Cubs were the winners when Ron Santo took third base over the challenge of Tony Perez of Cincinnati, 196-151.

Don Kessinger, the Cubs' shortstop, joined McCovey, Aaron and Santo as repeaters from 1968 by outdistancing Denis Menke of Houston 228-103.

Johnny Bench, Cincinnati's fine catcher, won in a breeze over Randy Hundley of the Cubs, 261-76. Only four catchers received votes and there were none for Jerry Grote of the Mets, the 1968 starter.

Matty Alou, Pittsburgh center fielder who leads the majors in hits, was voted into the startline outfield with Aaron, named for the 15th time and fifth straight as a starter, and the Mets' Jones, who is the league's leading hitter.

Tennis Match Postponed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rain forced postponement of the quarter-finals matches in the National Junior Clay Court Tennis Championships Thursday.

152. Next best was Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh, a four-time batting champ, with 56, followed by Cincinnati's Pete Rose, the 1968 batting king, with 53.

Willie Mays of the Giants, who holds a host of All-Star records, ranked sixth among the outfielders with only 49 votes but he undoubtedly will be picked to the team by Manager Schoendienst. It was Mays, in the unlikely role of a sub for failing Pete Rose, who was the Most Valuable Player in last year's 1-0 National League win at Houston.

The starters were evenly divided between divisions with four from the East and four from the West. Chicago and Atlanta each had two starters and Cincinnati, San Francisco, New York and Pittsburgh one each.

A total of 40 players received votes with Menke getting 103 at short and 19 at second base.

Every Cincinnati starter, except the shortstop, received votes. The defending champion Cardinals polled a total of 21 votes, 16 for outfielder Lou Brock and five for second baseman Julian Javier.

Lively, a 29-year-old Texan who has won only $1,030 in official four money this year, was such a long shot that even he didn't think his early 66 would stand up for a share of the lead.

"They'll tear it up," he said Thursday. "The course is playing extremely easy. They'll shoot a lot of good scores out there."

They did.
But only McLendon, who finished only a few minutes behind the former Texas A&M ace, could match his effort.

Dan Sikes Is Big Name in Golf Classic

(UPI)—By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
EDINA, Minn. (AP) — If it weren't for the presence of defending champion Dan Sikes, they might be calling this the Obscure Open.

With most of the game's glamor names in England for the British Open, the rookies and also-rans barged out of the ranks of the faceless young men and turned the $100,000 Minnesota Golf Classic into their private field day.

John Lively, up from the qualifying ranks, and lanky Mac McLendon shared the first round lead with 66s, five under par on the 6,913-yard Braemar Golf Club course.

Lively, a 29-year-old Texan who has won only $1,030 in official four money this year, was such a long shot that even he didn't think his early 66 would stand up for a share of the lead.

"They'll tear it up," he said Thursday. "The course is playing extremely easy. They'll shoot a lot of good scores out there."

They did.
But only McLendon, who finished only a few minutes behind the former Texas A&M ace, could match his effort.

Water Skiing Made Easy

By WILLIAM D. CLIFFORD
Executive Manager, American Water Ski Association
Water skiing in boat-traffic waters can be dangerous to a fallen skier only if he fails to use his head—and one of his skis. All a fallen skier needs to do to eliminate any risk of not being seen by an unsuspecting skipper of another boat is to hold a ski vertically in the air until his own towboat turns about and pulls alongside, either for the skier to come aboard or grasp the towline for a new start.

300 Swimmers Compete for World Records

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Three-hundred of the world's best swimmers shoot for world records at the three-pool Santa Clara Swim Center complex today in the third annual international invitational swim meet to be held here.

Some 50 Olympic medals—many of them won by the more than three dozen foreign stars entered—are represented in the meet that has drawn competition from Japan, Mexico, Canada and Eastern Europe.

The top U.S. stars, including Olympic heroes Debbie Meyer, Marc Spitz and others, are entered in the three-day meet.

The better the quality of the play, the more likely the fireworks. This does not mean that experts always get the best results. Sometimes we have seen contracts batted around like a Ping-pong ball.

West played his 10 of hearts at trick one after South had played low from dummy. South took his king and led the king of clubs. West won with the ace and played the nine of hearts.

What should expert South do? Expert West was capable of leading that nine-spot from ace-nine-eight. If that were his holding, the correct play would be the queen from dummy. Eventually, South did guess wrong. He played dummy's queen.

East was in with the ace and any ordinary player would have led back the three of hearts and settled for a one-trick set. Not this East! He wanted more. He led back the jack of spades. This play could not cost anything unless South held a five-card club suit and expert East had overlooked that possibility.

South was back in business. He could run out enough tricks for his contract but South was also somewhat of a hog. He wanted overtricks and it appeared to South that he could well-afford a diamond finesse. If it lost, he would take the rest of the tricks and make four-odd. If it won, he would make all the tricks for five-odd.

The overtricks looked good to South. He promptly led his queen of diamonds and let it ride. East took the king and produced his little heart to collect the two-trick penalty he had hoped for earlier.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY: The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

1899—Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude McCorkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.

The opposition line: 1880—Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers. 1883—Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.

1883—Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.

1884—Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W. Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

1916—Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald—but both papers suspended in 1922.

1926—Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly Hempstead County Review.

1927—Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.

1929—C.E. Palmer and A.H. Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

1957—Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

1969—With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president—balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

Drugs Play Major Role In Glaucoma Treatment

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What causes glaucoma? Can an ophthalmologist diagnose it at the very first glance? What is the treatment? Will air travel aggravate it? Where can I get more information about this disease?

A—Glaucoma is caused by an increase in the tension within the eyeball due to obstruction of the normal drainage. Underlying causes include heredity, hardening of the arteries, farsightedness and prolonged use of certain drugs—notably the cortisone group and some of those drugs used to lower the blood pressure.

The diagnosis is made by measuring the tension with a tonometer. Several drugs are used in the treatment of this disease but in some cases it may be necessary to remove a small piece of the iris to reestablish normal drainage.

Air travel will not aggravate it. For more information write to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 1790 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Q—I have glaucoma and am taking Equanil. Will it aggravate my glaucoma?

A—Although in some persons this drug has caused a slight decrease in acuteness of vision, it does not aggravate glaucoma. In any case, prolonged use of this drug is not advised.

Q—Will Butisol have a harmful effect on my glaucoma?

A—There have been no reports that this habit-forming drug will aggravate glaucoma.

Q—My doctor tested my ocular tension and said it was slightly elevated. He wants me to have another check in six months. I recently read an article in which the author was very much opposed to these tests. What do you think?

A—Anyone with the slightest suspicion of an increased ocular tension should have a recheck after not more than six months and anyone over 40 should have his tension checked every two years. Early detection of glaucoma prevents blindness.

Q—In a recent column, you mentioned soaking the feet in formalin to get rid of plantar warts. What strength should be used?

A—Soak them in a 1:200 solution of formalin (not formaldehyde, which is stronger) for 20 minutes every night for seven or eight weeks.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The picturesque covered bridges, vanishing antiques of the American past, were built after the Revolution to keep up with a fast-expanding country whose main roads crossed many rivers. The World Almanac notes. They were erected quickly and cheaply, especially in the eastern states, where great virgin forests stood. Walls and pitched roofs were added to protect the wooden roadbed and underpinning from rot.

Local Cattlemen Hold Barbecue

Hempstead County Cattlemen's Association members and families at their recent annual meeting and barbecue. Approximately 100 people were in attendance at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station for the event. Officers for the 1969-70 year include Barney Starkey, President; C.L. Roberts, Vice-President; N.B. Coleman, Secretary-Treasurer.

Beef was furnished as a courtesy of the Citizens National Bank. Some of the local chefs shown are, left to right: Arthur Strech, Dee Coffee, Cecil Bittle, Ralph Montgomery, and Dave Cummings. Others who assisted with barbecuing included Wayne Attebury, Robert Vandivere, Calvin Caldwell, Leo Ray, Bernard Webb, and Bill Spradling.

The chow line has beef cattle producers, bankers, doctors and preachers in it. Everyone seemed to enjoy the barbecued beef and other food.

Thailand Won't Broaden U.S. Commitment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department acknowledges existence of a secret defense arrangement between the United States and Thailand but denies Sen. J. W. Fulbright's contention that it broadens the American commitment to that Southeast Asian nation.

The arrangement is what a State Department spokesman terms a "military contingency plan which explicitly provides that it cannot be put into effect except by the mutual agreement and consent of both governments."

The spokesman, press officer Robert J. McCloskey, added Thursday that this "planning involves no further commitment beyond the Southeast Asia Treaty"—the basic legal foundation for U.S. involvement in Vietnam. McCloskey, in confirming the U.S.-Thai arrangement he said was signed in 1965, would not remove the secrecy tag from the document. He said it is still in effect but no action has been taken under it.

Thai Prime Minister Thanon Kittikachorn, Thai defense minister when he signed the arrangement, had said earlier Thursday in Bangkok that it "is not a secret agreement." He added it provides for U.S. participation in joint operations with Thais in defense against Communist aggression.

Fulbright, Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, told newsmen Tuesday the secret pact exceeds the terms of the 1954 SEATO treaty that provides for a defense of Southeast Asia. Joining the Arkansas Democrat in this assessment was Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

ing before his aid is withdrawn. There have been few cases under the present law of funds being cut off after a conviction, primarily because of the slowness of court procedures.

The Office of Education estimates 1.5 million students or about one-fourth of the total number enrolled in degree-credit colleges, are receiving some form of federal aid.

Despite its relative ineffectiveness the present law has drawn severe criticism from college administrators and students and the new version undoubtedly will produce even louder outcries.

Smith's new move follows the failure of the House Education and Labor Committee to come up with a less stringent bill dealing with federal aid and student uprisings.

At one point the Education and Labor group seemed ready to report out a bill requiring colleges to establish rules of conduct for students and faculty and file them with the government or face loss of federal money.

However, college officials and the Nixon administration opposed the measure which died in the committee.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who sponsored the bill in the Education Committee warned after her measure failed that more repressive legislation would be attempted.

A large and vocal segment of Congress is convinced colleges have failed to deal harshly enough with militant students, and amendments are being prepared that could cut off funds to the colleges themselves.

A Day At A Time, We Them Ignore

Ever so often, somebody drops by to ask us to write a piece commemorating the observance of one or another special "Day" or "Week" that has been proclaimed for celebration.

Normally the proclaimer of these celebratory periods is a press agent for a cause or a product ("National Pineapple Month") but occasionally the aim is non-commercial ("Be Kind to Hobbies Week"). Frequently, even, the Mayor is induced to issue a proclamation ("Give Your Girl A Pearl Day") and sometimes we're sorely tempted.

Thus far, though, we've resisted. Chances' Calendar of Annual Events lists 1,471 special days, weeks, or months in 1969 alone, and if we celebrated them all we'd have no time for philosophy. So we celebrate none of them in these columns, not even National Newspaper Week. No single day of that seven-day stretch is dedicated to Editorial Writers, and what we always say is "Tit for tat." — Asheville (N.C.) Citizen

Car-Less Cities?

Bless you, John Volpe. Somebody in high places has, at long last, spoken the unspeakable.

The new secretary of transportation, in an interview with the Associated Press, said it may be necessary to curb the use of automobiles in the nation's cities. It must have been a great relief for him to get that off his chest.

It has been obvious for years that we were, in our rush to sacrifice sanity to the insatiable demands of the auto, bound to arrive at a point where only dictatorial methods could keep our large cities from chaos. That point actually arrived early in this decade; we have spent the last nine years or so rationalizing our shortsightedness, hoping somehow for a miracle in mass transit.

That miracle has not come; and, in spite of the early success of the Metroliner between Washington and New York, we as a nation lack the will to undertake the tremendous costs of setting our priorities right. Our love affair with the automobile shows no signs of diminishing. Only something as simple — and as odious — as a limited ban on automobiles, will now do the job. — Roanoke (Va.) Times

Women's Work Is Done

Women who complain that their husbands never give them a hand around the house will read this with amazement:

After 13 years of marriage, 41-year-old Doreen Baker asked a London court to divorce her from Frederick Baker, 58, because he did all the cooking, cleaning and shopping. The story has a happy ending, however. Mr. Baker has promised to let his wife share the housework, and the judge turned down her request for a divorce.

The little tale strengthens our conviction that some women just don't realize how lucky they are. — Miami (Fla.) Herald

Wreck Causes Property Damage

Yesterday around 5 p.m., there was an accident on 5th and Main Streets involving Lynal Webb of Hope and J.C. White of Hope. J.C. White was charged with no brakes in the collision which resulted in minor property damage. Milam and Johnson investigated.

Former Inmates to Testify

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U.S. Grand Jury for the Eastern District of Arkansas heard testimony Thursday about the Pulaski County Penal Farm.

Several former penal farm inmates who witnessed the fatal beating Aug. 2, 1968, of Curtis Ingram Jr., 18, of Little Rock were called to testify.

One was Bruce McCortley, 34, of Benton, who is serving a three-year sentence for involuntary manslaughter in Ingram's death.

Countdown Starts Today

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the countdown for their moon landing mission under way, the Apollo 11 astronauts today receive their final major prelaunch physical examination.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins planned several hours with doctors. The exam determines if they are healthy for their demanding eight-day flight and also provides baseline heart rate, respiration and other data for in-flight and postflight comparison.

For the past month, doctors have been drawing complete medical profiles of the three spacemen, who are to start their voyage to the moon at 9:32 a.m. EDT next Wednesday. Previous major physicals were completed June 16 and July 1.

The information will be particularly important when Armstrong and Aldrin walk on the lunar surface July 21. It will provide clues to when the astronauts might be tiring in the unfamiliar one-sixth gravity field on the moon.

While the astronauts are on the surface, doctors in the mission control center will monitor heart rate, oxygen consumption

Avoid Dull Summer by Making a List of Daydreams Come True

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you caught in the summer doldrums?

Many people are. They have come down with the hot weather blues. Life seems stale, routine and dull, too humdrum to be "Nothing seems worth doing," they say.

That's nonsense. There always are a number of things worth doing. If nothing else, you can write down a list of fairly odd daydreams and try to make a few of them come true.

For example, you might—

Take a correspondence course in sky writing.

Get a part-time job as a human fly.

Count the contents of a can of peas.

Become the donor for the first human freckle transplant.

Listen for the crack of doom. Sing a bawdy song at your next PTA meeting.

Beat City Hall.

Adopt a baby dolphin and keep it in your bathtub.

Champ at a bit.

Paste your own portrait among the photos of the "ten most wanted criminals" in your local post office and see how long it is before you're caught.

Take a ride through a sewer

High Point of Trip to Be Touchdown July 20 on the Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

The high points of the Apollo 11 flight will come on Sunday, July 20, when the lunar module landing vehicle is to touch down on the moon and on Monday, July 21, when two astronauts walk on the lunar surface.

Here are highlights of the mission schedule, as announced by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. All times are Eastern Daylight.

Wednesday, July 16
9:32 a.m.—Saturn 5 rocket blasts off from Cape Kennedy to put astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins into orbit 115 miles above the earth at 17,400 miles an hour.

12:16 p.m.—Third stage of rocket fires to increase speed to 24,200 m.p.h. and Apollo 11 zips out of earth orbit toward the moon, 230,000 miles away.

1:41 p.m.—Astronauts separate command ship, pivot around and linkup nose to nose with lunar module, pulling it free of its housing atop the rocket's third stage.

Thursday and Friday, July 17-18
Apollo 11 coasts outward, making midcourse corrections as needed to zero in on moon.

1:26 p.m.—Apollo 11 slips behind the moon and astronauts fire main engine to put the ship into a lunar orbit ranging from 69 to 136 miles high. After two orbits, lasting four hours, they again fire the engine to adjust the orbital path to 62 by 76 miles. For more than a day the astronauts will orbit, checking their navigation and mapping the landing site.

7:22 p.m.—Aldrin crawls through tunnel into LM to check systems for two hours.

Sunday, July 20
9:32 a.m.—Armstrong and Aldrin enter LM.

1:47 p.m.—Armstrong and Aldrin separate LM and begin descent to lunar surface. Collins remains in lunar orbit in command ship and will show television views of separation, and the lunar surface.

4:19 p.m.—LM lands in the moon's Sea of Tranquility near a crater named Molke. For 10 hours, Armstrong and Aldrin check systems, rest, don back packs and make other preparations for walking on moon.

2:12 a.m.—Armstrong opens hatch and starts five-minute descent on ladder attached to one of the landing legs. He pauses on second rung to open a compartment containing a black and white television camera which will relay live to earth his first steps on the surface.

2:21 a.m.—Armstrong steps on the moon.

2:41 a.m.—Aldrin joins Armstrong on the surface, and during stay of about two hours they plant the American flag, gather

Gun Found in Ann Arbor Slaying

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)

The State Police crime laboratory said Thursday it has positively identified a .22-caliber semi-automatic pistol recovered from the Huron River as the weapon used to slay Margaret Phillips, 25, a University of Michigan coed.

The gun was found in mud earlier in the day in an area where Ernest Bishop Jr., 28, charged with the slaying, said it may have landed when he tossed it off a bridge that carries U.S. 23 over the river and north out of Ann Arbor.

The discovery of the seven-shot Bernardelli pistol ended a 3½ day search by Ann Arbor police and State Police skindivers using metal detecting and other equipment.

An official at the crime lab in Plymouth, Mich., said it would be determined if the gun had been used in the murder of two other Michigan coeds, law student Jane Louise Mixer, 23, and art graduate Alice Kalom, 21.

Both were shot in the head with .22-caliber bullets.

Thieu Says Elections End War

By DAVID MASON

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today proposed free elections to settle the Vietnam war, saying the Viet Cong can participate if they pledge to renounce violence and abide by the results of balloting.

He called for international supervision to insure "conditions fair to all."

There was no immediate reaction to the proposal from parties at the Paris peace talks. But observers said it was unlikely to end the stalemate at the negotiating table since Hanoi and the Viet Cong's provisional revolutionary government insist the United States must withdraw all its troops and the Thieu regime must step down as the first steps to end the war.

With Thieu's proposal, made in a radio address, all four major parties to the war have called for a ballot-box settlement.

The National Liberation Front, predecessor of the provisional revolutionary government, called for elections more than two months ago as part of its 10-point peace plan. The plan was endorsed by North Vietnam.

In President Nixon's eight-point program announced May 14, he called for internationally supervised elections in which "every significant group in South Vietnam" could participate.

Thieu's proposal added a call for establishment of an election commission, with all political factions represented, to assure "equal opportunities in the campaigning to all candidates" and an honest vote count. The president said he was prepared to discuss a timetable for the elections and other details with "the other side."

However, neither Thieu nor Nixon have specified what the elections would decide, and that question may form the basis of a conflict in the Saigon and NLF positions.

Senate May Favor Stepping Up Tests at 2 Pacific Sites

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appears to be moving toward a compromise which would bar deployment of the Safeguard missile defense system but would step up testing of radar and computer components, probably at two Pacific test sites.

Sen. George D. Aiken, a Vermont Republican who nudged the Senate closer to compromise Thursday by stating Safeguard could not be approved without modifications, predicted a program could be worked out acceptable to both a substantial majority of senators and the Nixon administration.

"I don't think the White House is so narrow-minded as to object to a workable modification of the bill," Aiken told a reporter. He said he has been in touch with the White House often in recent weeks.

At the Pentagon, Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard would not rule out the possibility of compromise.

"The question of a compromise is a matter which will have to be dealt with by the President," Packard told re-

Funds to Be Cut for Unruly

By JOHN BECKLER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tough new provision that would cut off federal funds to students involved in violent campus uprisings has been approved by a House Appropriations subcommittee.

The provision was added to a bill appropriating money to run the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which is expected to attract even tougher amendments before the House completes action on it in a few weeks.

Members determined to bring congressional force to bear on the problem of unruly students have been waiting all session for a chance to act and the HEW appropriations bill offers it.

The subcommittee Thursday adopted an amendment offered by Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, that would stiffen a fund cutoff provision he succeeded in attaching to last year's appropriation bill.

At present, funds can be withdrawn only after a student has been convicted of a crime arising out of a campus disturbance. Under Smith's new version, a college could not approve a student's application for federal financial assistance if he had participated in a violent campus disruption.

The new provision also would do away with a present requirement that a student get a hearing.

Court Reverses Decision on Dr. Spock

BOSTON (AP)

The 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed today the conviction of Dr. Benjamin Spock on a charge of conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

A federal jury had convicted the widely read pediatrician and three others in June 1968.

The appeals court also reversed the conviction of the three others—the Rev. William Sloane Jr., chaplain at Yale University; Michael Ferber, a Harvard graduate student; and Mitchell Goodman, and author and teacher from Temple, Maine.

The three-man court's opinion freed Spock and Ferber from further prosecution, but declared that Goodman and Coffin would have to be retried.

The opinion was written by Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich, and concurred with by Judge Edward McEntee.

A dissenting opinion was written by Judge Frank M. Coffin, who wanted to free all four outright.

BULLITEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today new peace proposals by President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam "should open the way at last for a rapid settlement" of the Vietnam war—if the Communists will begin serious negotiations.

The public is urged to attend both of these services. Calvary Baptist Church is located on West Avenue B.

Ark. Weather to Remain Hot, Humid

Arkansas will continue to be extremely hot and dry through Saturday, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today.

Temperatures are expected to remain in the 90s and Low 100s. Thursday was one of the hottest days so far this year in Arkansas, the mercury Thursday afternoon soared over the 100 mark in most sections of the state. The high was 105 at Pine Bluff.

A high pressure ridge remains firmly implanted over Arkansas and the mid-South and should continue to dominate the weather scene for another few days.

Forecast for the weekend calls for little change. Low tonight should be in the 70s and low 80s.

During Lull Pressure Is On Enemy

By GEORGE ESTER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — While the lull in ground fighting continues, American forces are keeping pressure on elements of four enemy divisions in the 3rd Corps area, from Saigon to the Cambodian border.

Spokesmen said extraordinary precautions have been taken to protect two key provincial capitals, Tay Ninh City and An Loc, 50 miles northwest and 60 miles north of Saigon respectively.

"We don't want any more city busters," said one top-ranking American officer.

U.S. intelligence men said they feel the two cities are prime targets for the North Vietnamese 1st, 7th and 9th divisions operating around them. Although they are referred to as North Vietnamese estimates indicate about 20 per cent of their forces are Viet Cong.

Sources said enemy infiltration is continuing in the 3rd Corps area and American reconnaissance and infantry troops are trying "to bust up" enemy reinforcements.

Citing captured documents and prisoner interrogations, U.S. officials say a surge of enemy attacks may be launched within the next few days. But they added that if this so-called enemy-highpoint — doesn't come soon, it probably will be held off until August.

The officials said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units have been badly hurt since the beginning of this year and since their last highpoint June 18. The enemy has had almost a month to rebuild its units and the next highpoint will be a good indication of the Communist command's current capability.

U.S. B52 bombers kept up their raids overnight on two enemy divisions, the 1st and the 7th, aiming hundreds of tons of bombs at their suspected staging areas northwest of Tay Ninh City and An Loc.

The U.S. Command reported 38 overnight rocket and mortar attacks, about half of them considered significant because they caused casualties or damage, which was described as light. Four attacks were aimed at U.S. units or installations.

South Vietnamese headquarters said rockets and mortars hit four provincial capitals, killing one Vietnamese civilian and one Viet Cong defector and wounding eight civilians and three Viet Cong defectors.

Two terrorist attacks also were reported overnight. One in Saigon, the first in more than a week, injured 21 Vietnamese civilians, 11 American soldiers and one Viet Cong suspect.

Spokesmen said two terrorists rolled up outside an American billet in a small vehicle bearing the charge, which exploded a few minutes later. The wounded Viet Cong suspect was captured. The second terrorist escaped.

In the Mekong Delta, terrorists set off a bomb in the provincial capital of Can Tho, 75 miles southwest of Saigon. Four civilians were reported killed and 10 wounded.

Several small clashes were reported in the past 24 hours north of Saigon. U.S. forces reported killing 43 enemy in four fights without suffering any casualties.
